

THE LAUNCH CHALLENGE

A 7-Day Improvement Sprint

Purpose

Early in the program, your motivation, focus, and energy are at their highest. This challenge exists to take advantage of that window and convert it into real, measurable progress before momentum has a chance to fade.

What You'll Gain

A fast, concrete data point that your score is genuinely movable, not just in theory, but in practice, in a short amount of time. This becomes proof you can return to later in the program if progress ever feels slower than you'd like.

The Challenge

You will identify your single highest-opportunity area, the section where a focused push is most likely to produce a quick jump in points. Over the next 6 to 7 days, you will apply your error log, the problem-solving protocols, and any strategies we've covered specifically to that area. Then, take your next full-length test. After, answer the Completion Reflections below and send them to Coach Scott via email (scott@northcresteducation.com) or text.

Completion Reflections

1. Where did you see the clearest sign of progress, whether or not you hit the exact point target?
2. What specific change in your process made the biggest difference this week?
3. What does this tell you about how quickly your effort can turn into results?
